We're First To Fill The Rideshare Insurance App Gap!

Farmers is the first major carrier in California to offer a Rideshare Endorsement for drivers on the hook for insurance when the app is on and the driver is seeking riders. Rideshare companies typically provide some level of insurance coverage during the time a driver has accepted a trip from the app until the driver has dropped the passenger off. The driver's auto insurance is not set up to cover this gap either. And remember, rideshare drivers are legally required to be covered from the moment they turn on their apps, starting July 1, 2015.
